

nt interference to be investigated.

Field Day assessment - Despite the heat there were no health issues. One hour before the end of operations the AC unit in the FEMOR trailer quit. The MARC unit wench for the tower failed while the tower was in the up position and it remained in the field until it was repaired 11 days later. The number of contacts were down due to poor propagation. There was an increase in the number of digital contacts over previous years and the top 3 operators were Shannon, Leland and Vann. Critical points: Stations and towers were not checked out before the event and there was no band plan or schedule of operators.

Presentation – Leland Gallup and Bob Guertin gave a presentation on FT8 and JS8CALL including possible uses in emergency communication.
